

Noojimo'iwewin Center Hosts Washburn Chamber of Commerce, After Five

On Thursday, September 12th, an open house was held at the Noojimo'iwewin (We Heal) Center as part of the Washburn Area Chamber of Commerce, After Five series. The event was attended by Washburn Chamber employees, Chamber Board member, local service providers, a community member, Nicole Gurnoe, Director of the Red Cliff Behavioral Health Department, and Cassie McCrow, Noojimo'iwewin Project Coordinator. Despite a dramatic thunderstorm and light attendee turnout, productive networking and exchange of resources filled the evening among participants. Cassie provided a brief introduction and overview of the available Noojimo'iwewin Center programs, events and services. Discussion centered on Washburn Chamber membership outreach services, the Red Cliff Community Health Centers, Noojimo'iwewin Center innovative approach to inter-departmental and inter-agency collaboration, wrap-around and "No Wrong Door" model for care. Guests were pleased to have the information and impressed with the Red Cliff Community Health Centers extensive programs and services. Light refreshments were served.
